

Transaction Costs Disclosure FY23 and Buy/Sell spreads

26 October 2023

In accordance with our obligations under ASIC's Regulatory Guide 97: Disclosing fees and costs in PDSs and periodic statements, transaction costs disclosed in a PDS are to be determined based on the transaction costs incurred in the previous financial year. The table below shows the transaction costs for the Funds for the previous financial year (being the financial year ended 30 June 2023) and are expressed as a percentage of net asset value of the Fund. These costs are not new costs being imposed on the Fund, these costs were incurred previously and reflected in the Unit price. The below transaction costs figures have been calculated based on actual transaction costs incurred during a financial year, including reasonable estimates where the exact amount is not known at the time they are prepared. The following information should be read in conjunction with the relevant Fund's Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) and the Important Additional Information document. Transaction costs vary from year to year depending on the volume and value of transactions of the underlying assets and the brokerage that is charged.

The below information forms part of the relevant Fund PDSs and updates the transaction costs figure in the "Fees and costs summary" and the "Example of annual fees and costs for the Fund" subsections in section 6 of each relevant PDS and the "Fees and costs summary" and "Transaction costs" subsections in section 3 of each relevant Important Additional Information document.

[^] There has been no change to the Buy/Sell spreads since the PDS issue date.

* Net transaction costs are costs associated with buying and selling a fund's assets, net of any amount recovered by the buy/sell spread charged to transacting investors. Where the Buy/Sell Spread exceeds the gross transaction costs, the net transaction costs figure has been disclosed as nil.

[#] This gives an example of how the ongoing annual fees and costs of the Fund can affect your investment over a one-year period. It assumes $50,000 is invested for the entire year and $5,000 investment occurs on the last business day of the year and a constant investment balance and management fees and costs.

[§] This figure is the total fees and costs (which includes Contribution fees, Management fees and costs, Performance Fees and Transaction costs) you would be charged for the given example. This means if you had an investment of $50,000 at the beginning of the year and you put in an additional $5,000 during that year, the Cost of Fund in the table would be the fees and costs you would be charged. Additional fees and costs may apply, such as the buy/sell spread and fees charged by your Platform provider (if any).
